

In a deep sea of silence seen we have, the dreams dwindle still, a wave of violence strained all lives to kindle.
Inevitable it is — no doubt, what life is all about shall be silenced in the deep Even then, a groaning one — leviathan — as life begun, recollects promises to keep.
It is a deeper pain beyond a loss or gain we smother in the abyss — wrong is the notion to create commotion and yields to breathe peace Silence and sound are eternally bound Exudes a divine grace —
The end, not fright
a peaceful height
Awaits a warm embrace.